

Eligibility requirements for the Zoetis Foundation/AAVMC Veterinary Research Scholarship

- Applicants must be enrolled or formally accepted to a combined veterinary professional degree and PhD program at an AAVMC member institution in the United States or an equivalent research focused degree program at an international AAVMC member institution.
- Applicants who have secured funding and/or tuition support for the PhD and/or DVM portion of their program are welcome to apply, however please be advised that financial need is a component of the scholarship selection process.
- Students who are enrolled in a non-PhD combined degree program are not eligible currently. This program is not designed to fully support a PhD research program.
- International applications who are enrolled in equivalent combined veterinary professional and research degree programs and whose program is housed at an AAVMC member institution are eligible.